

This map reveals the logic behind an interactive story designed to help cyclists and drivers see each other's perspective. People's path through a virtual journey is shaped by their role as a road user and the decisions they make along the way.

The story was developed as a simple prototype using Typeform.com. To try the story for yourself, scan the QR code above on a smartphone, or go to <http://bit.ly/roadperspectives>.